| Course Description | 3D Animation Foundations is designed to introduce students to the many career opportunities available for 3D artists, animators and designers. This course gives student an understanding of the creative potential of the 3D animation software used in the games, film and visual effects industry. The course concludes in a production unit wherein students will work together to produce a short animated film. Students start by planning their animation with concept art and storyboards, modelling and animating their designs throughout the production process and finish by editing sound, music and special FX into the final product. 3D Animation Foundations serves as a valuable bridge to further study in 3D animation, including 3D animation for games or film. Graduates leave with a portfolio of work, knowledge and skills useful in many other multimedia and design areas. Note: This Certificate II course is effectively the first year of the Certificate III in Media. If at the end of the year students wish to continue on with a Certificate III in Media some of the competencies completed are able to be resulted under the Certificate III in Media and therefore can count for stage 2 credits for SACE. If students choose NOT to continue with the Certificate III in Media in Stage 2, they will receive a full Certificate II in Creative Industries. Information provided about this course may be subject to change. | | |
